Pres. Wilson Defends Article 10 of League

IRISH QUIZ IS ANSWERED BY WILSON

President Repeats His Interpretation of U. S. in League

NEEDN'T AID ENGLAND

Declares America Does Not Have to Put Down Rebellions

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—The first public document in the present presidential campaign to be issued at the White House was made public today. It dealt with the league of nations and was in the form of a letter to E. M. Swartz, of Los Angeles, written by Secretary Tamm at President Wilson's direction.

The White House letter was in reply to one to the president in which Mr. Swartz had declared the forces supporting the Republican ticket were contending that if Article 10 of the league covenant was ratified the United States "would be bound to support England in holding Ireland under subjection."

The letter to Mr. Swartz follows: "In reply to your letter of the 30th of September, I beg to say that the identical questions contained in your letter, with reference to article 10 and the right of self-determination, found in the covenant of the league of nations were placed before the president while he was on his western trip last year and fully answered by him. The president directed me to call your attention to the following questions and answers given by him to the press at that time which I think satisfactorily answer your inquiries. The questions and answers are as follows:

Q. "Under the covenant does the nation obligate itself to assist any member of the league in putting down a rebellion of its subjects or conquered peoples?"

A. "It does not."

Q. "Under the covenant can this nation recognize a government whose people seek to achieve their independence from a member of the league?"

A. "The independent action of the government of the United States in a matter of this kind is in no way limited or affected by the covenant of the league of nations."

Q. "Under the covenant are those subject nations or peoples only that are mentioned in the peace treaty entitled to the right of self-determination or does the league possess the right to accord a similar privilege to other subject nations or peoples?"

A. "It was not possible for the peace conference to act with regard to the self-determination of any territories except those which had belonged to the defeated empires, but in the covenant of league of nations it has set up for the first time in Article 11, a forum to which all claims of self-determination which are likely to disturb the peace of the world or the good understanding between nations upon which the peace of the world depends can be brought."

Q. "Why was the case of Ireland not heard at the peace conference?" and "What is your opinion on the subject of self-determination of Ireland?"

A. "The case of Ireland was not heard at the peace conference because the peace conference had no jurisdiction over any question of that sort which did not affect territories which belonged to the defeated empires. My position on the subject of self-determination for Ireland is expressed in Article 11 of the covenant in which I may say I was particularly interested, because it seemed to me necessary for the peace and freedom of the world that a forum should be created to which all peoples could bring any matter which was likely to affect the peace and freedom of the world."

CHEESE MEN MUST PAY FULL PRICES

Markets Division Issues Order Barring Fractional System

SEE $1,000,000 LOSS

Order Says Dealers Must Pay for Full Weight at Warehouse

Enjoining dealers in American cheese from refusing to pay cheese factories for quarter and half pounds, the Division of Markets issued an order, effective at once, directing every cheese buyer in Wisconsin to pay for not less than the full amount which the cheese weighs at the time of weighing at the buyer's warehouse.

The practice existing for years in Wisconsin, under which approximately one million dollars are estimated to have been absorbed annually was for the cheese buyers at producing centers, such as Plymouth and Marshfield, to pay for only even pounds and to either take the fractions of pounds without payment or make a flat deduction of 5-8 pound or 7-8 pound upon every box.

Public hearing, to determine the reason for this practice, was held in Milwaukee on Sept. 16 before Alvin C. Kals, Counsel for the Division of Markets. Cheese buyers, comprising both independent and meat packer dealers, appeared at this hearing and testified, being represented by George Money, attorney for the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange, and Plymouth. Leo Nohl, Milwaukee lawyer, intervened in behalf of the Wisconsin Dairy Protective association.

The cheese dealers maintained that the justification for failing to pay for fractions is the fact that cheese factories are marketing cheese which, because it is shipped too soon after making, shrinks in weight while in the hands of the dealer. The position of the Division of Markets, however, is that this loss should be offset by the payment of a lower price for such "green" cheese and that it is unfair to take fractions from every producer of cheese without regard to whether or not his cheese is in green condition.

The order, as issued, applies to all persons buying American cheese from the producers and to all selling agents of American cheese for the producers.

Violation of the order, unless it has been set aside by the courts, is punishable by fine or imprisonment and—in addition—gives the party suffering loss from such violation the right to lay his case before the Division of Markets and recover twice the amount of his loss.

Mistake in Radiator Lands 2 in Court

Putting the wrong kind of a radiator into the car of Peter Peterson brought Orrin Smart, a garage owner, into court this morning on the complaint of Peterson, who charged him with taking his car without his permission. Smart admitted that he put the wrong radiator into Peterson's car, but claimed that Peterson took the car away from his garage without his permission, and that Peterson owed him a bill. Judge Hoppmann decided that in spite of these facts, Smart had no right to take Peterson's car, but declared that owing to fault on both sides, he would not find Smart guilty of the charge, and dismissed the case, ordering the parties to settle up among themselves immediately.

Frio Nabbed in Oshkosh Bank Case Claim Residence Here

OSHKOSH—Sensational developments are predicted in the mystery surrounding the robbery of the Exchange bank here last week, with the arrival early Tuesday morning of the three couples arrested in Chippewa Falls on Monday, in connection with the affair.

A new angle in the case was injected Monday afternoon when Cashier John E. Glatz, who was shot by one of the robbers, positively identified a photo of the man who stood guard at the teller's window while his companion opened fire.

Three Couples Held
With having been implicated in the holdup and robbery of the Exchange bank at Oshkosh, and with numerous smaller robberies in Winnebago and Waupaca counties during the last three weeks, three men and three women were arrested here on Monday following a raid on the Northern hotel.

The three couples were registered as E. J. Rogers and wife, Madison; C. Turner and wife, Madison; and James King and wife, Chicago. They were lodged in jail here, but will be taken to Oshkosh.

One of the women made an attempt to reach a suitcase in her room, but was halted when officers threatened to shoot. When opened the suitcase was found to contain several loaded revolvers. Cashier Glatz, who was shot, was found on the woman when she was searched.

Nothing is known in Madison concerning E. J. Rogers and C. Turner, who claimed to be of Madison when arrested at Chippewa Falls. Their names do not appear in the directory.

LEGION AVOIDS LABOR ISSUE

But Report of Committee Favor Compulsory Drill

(By the Associated Press)
CLEVELAND—The report of the resolutions committee when it was presented to the American Legion convention on reassembling after the noon recess will not contain a statement one way or the other relative to the stand of the American Legion in regard to politics or organized labor, it was learned from an authoritative source during the recess.

The report of the committee on military affairs which was adopted pledged the aid of the American Legion members in the formation, recruiting and maintaining of the national guard to that standard of strength required by the adoption of our military government.

Because the application of the 19th article of war during the world war was "the cause of much bitterness among officers of the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserve" the report recommended that this article be repealed.

The report recommended the "adoption by congress of a system of compulsory universal training which shall include physical and educational training and Americanization, as well as efficient military training, to form a foundation for future extended military training in time of war" but the men received no further comment.

That section of the report dealing with slackers urged that "the United States government proceed immediately to bring to justice and publish the names of the slackers who evaded military service."

CHARGE CONSPIRACY WITH INTENT TO VIOLATE STATE LAW; MEN ARE SUSPENDED

Probe Into "Fixing" of World Series Causes Jury to Hold Cicotte, Jackson, Felsch and Five Other Stars; Fired by Comiskey

BULLETIN
CHICAGO—Eddie Cicotte, confessed that he engineered the deal by which the White Sox lost last year's world's series, an official of the court announced this afternoon. The details of Cicotte's confession follow closely the story told in Philadelphia last night by Billy Maharg, former prize fighter, it was stated.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO—The Cook county grand jury this afternoon voted true bills against the following baseball players in connection with its investigation of alleged "throwing" of world's series games last year: Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, "Chick" Gandil, "Happy" Felsch, Charles Risberg, Joe Jackson, Buck Weaver, Fred McMullin.

All are members of the Chicago Americans. The eight players are charged with conspiracy to violate a state law.

Charles Comiskey president of the White Sox today suspended every member of the team indicted today in connection with the alleged fixing of baseball games. Seven of the eight indicted are affected, Chick Gandil, the eighth, is not playing this year. The suspension practically kills all hope of the White Sox winning the American League pennant this year.

Assistant State's Attorney Regole announced that Cicotte was taken in custody after leaving the grand jury room and is now in charge of William Sullivan, a detective of the state's attorney's office. He declined to say where the pitcher was being taken.

Voting of the indictments was officially announced by H. H. Brigham, foreman of the grand jury following a conference with Chief Justice McDonald and Alfred S. Austrian, attorney for the White Sox club.

Gandil, while still the property of the Chicago club, has not been with the team this year. It was understood that he could not reach an agreement with them over salary.

While the indictments at present contain but one count "conspiracy to do an illegal act" state's Attorney Hartley Regole in charge of the grand jury investigation said that there will probably be more added after the grand jury session this afternoon.

Cicotte Denies Story
Eddie Cicotte, White Sox pitcher, who, according to a story told in Philadelphia last night by Billy Maharg, former boxer, was involved in a $100,000 plot to lose the world's series last year, denied today that he had ever met Maharg.

Cicotte, according to Maharg's story, met him and Billy Burns, former ball player, in the latter's room in a New York hotel and offered to "throw" the series if $20,000 was paid him by Burns.

"I would not know Maharg if I saw him," Cicotte said today. "I do not recall ever having met him. He might have been introduced to me the same as any other fan, but I do not remember him."

"Bill Burns called at the Ansonia Hotel in New York. He did not talk to me alone but conversed with other members of the team. While I was with him he was making arrangements for a hunting trip with Bill James. The talk of the world's series being fixed is all a joke. I know nothing of it."

Mrs. Henrietta D. Kelley, a widow in whose home several of the White Sox players have roomed, and who has been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury was questioned today by Otto P. Lightfoot, as the state's attorney, Regole, said her story was "important" and Mr. Lightfoot said "if I can gather together the angles on which I am working I expect to have something which can be prosecuted in Cook county."

Mrs. Kelley herself said she had been able to tell the state's attorney nothing as she knew nothing about alleged "fixing" of games.

Notified of Suspension
Alfred S. Austrian, attorney for the club, sent the following telegram to Risberg, McMullin, Jackson, Felsch, Weaver, Williamson and Cicotte:

"You and each of you are hereby notified of your indefinite suspension as a member of the Chicago American league baseball club."

"Your suspension is brought about by information which has just come to me directly involving each of you in the baseball scandal (now being investigated by the present grand jury of Cook county) resulting from the world's series of 1919."

"If you are innocent of any able to make a statement."

CONFESSES TO PACINI MURDER

Hold-up Man Declares He Shot Wealthy Theater Owner

(By the Associated Press)
KENOSHA, Wis.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Charles Pacini, wealthy theater owner of Kenosha, on Aug. 14, was cleared today when Frank Lang, aged 45, 175 English court, Kenosha, confessed to the police here that he had shot and killed the former theater owner. Lang declared that he had followed Pacini on the night of the murder to the garage for the purpose of robbing him and when Pacini drew his gun, he shot once. He saw Pacini fall and started to fire again but he ran to his home where he stayed until late in the afternoon on the following Sunday.

Lang was arrested last night for burglarizing the Cozy saloon in Kenosha of $480, and when faced by the authorities confessed also that he was the murderer of Charles Pacini. He has a wife and two children.

Open World's Series In Brooklyn Oct. 5
CHICAGO—The national commission today reversed its decision yesterday and decided to open the world's series at Brooklyn on Oct. 5, playing three games there. The change was made at the request of Jim Dunn, president of the Cleveland club, who asked more time to prepare the Cleveland grounds in the event his team should win the wrong-doing each of you will be reinstated; if you are guilty you will be retired from organized baseball for the rest of your lives, if I can accomplish it.

"Until there is a finality to this investigation it is due to the public that I take this action even though it costs Chicago the pennant."

"Charles A. Comiskey"
Cicotte broke down and cried in the grand jury room, one of the jurors said following the voting of the indictments. The juror quoted the pitcher as saying he "wished I was not mixed up in it."

At three o'clock the jury was preparing to resume its investigation with a number of officials of both major leagues summoned to testify. There were rumors about county court building that other players had confessed.

"We will play out the schedule if we have to get Chinamen to replace the suspended players," Harry Grabner, secretary of the White Sox announced this afternoon.

Deplores Big Scandal
President Heydler, of the National League, before going before the grand jury said the scandal in organized baseball was "the most deplorable thing that has ever happened in the history of the game."

He added that he was glad the case was in the hands of a competent court and while it was a terrible thing he hoped that the guilty would be punished.

President Comiskey, of the White Sox, was so broken up after sending the telegrams suspending seven of his star players that he was unable to make a statement.

"BLACK AND TAN" TERROR BREAKS OUT

Police Burn and Wreck Irish Cities in Revenge

LONDON GROWS ANXIOUS

Calls on Government to Stop "Semi-Official Lynch Law"

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON—Serious anxiety over the recurrence of the "Black and Tan" reprisals in Ireland is reflected by English newspapers, which sharply call for the government to halt what is described by the London Times, as "semi-official lynch law." Earlier occurrences in Ireland passed without much notice here, but recent raids, especially those on Balbriggan and Trim, and the lukewarm criticism of the "Black and Tan" police forces by Gen. Sir Cecil F. Nevill Macready, military commander of Ireland, are causing disquietude.

Condemnation of disorders is not confined to newspapers which are avowedly sympathizers with the Irish nationalists' movement, the conservative Graphic, which is an unsparing critic of the Sinn Feiners, declaring:

"This is not calm and orderly justice and punishment according to British ideas. It must be stopped." Reports from Ireland tell of numerous threats of further reprisals. Warnings have been given several towns in West Clare that they would be burned unless Captain Leonard, resident magistrate of Kildare, who has been missing since last Wednesday and who is believed to have been kidnapped, was not returned within 48 hours. The town of St. Neer suffered from a raid early Monday. Shots were fired into houses, some of the inhabitants were roughly handled, but none was seriously hurt.

Has Better Night.
LONDON—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, passed a better night and was a little more refreshed this morning said a bulletin issued today by the Irish self-determination league. He was weak and exhausted, however, and in some pain, the bulletin declared. This is the 47th day of the lord mayor's hunger strike. In his report to the home office, the physician at Brixton prison said: "He is slightly thinner but otherwise there is no marked change from yesterday. The prisoner is unquestionably growing weaker daily."

Fidelity Trust Co.

The capital of the Fidelity is $3,000,000. Its deposits totalled about $18,000,000. The reasons for the closing of the bank Commissioner Allen said were "the steady withdrawals of deposits and slow and doubtful loans."

ENFORCE AUTO LIGHTS RULING

Insurance Firms Now Interested in State Regulations

Automobile insurance companies are beginning to interest themselves in compliance with the automobile headlight law for the cars they insure. This is due to the fact that there have been several recent accident cases in which the plaintiffs are alleging that the accident was due to improper headlights on the car of the other motorist. The state law provides that if an accident occurs at night and a car does not have the proper headlights, this fact shall be prima facie evidence of negligence.

The industrial commission also reports that in some localities progress is being made in securing active enforcement of the headlight law. In common with all other traffic laws and regulations, the enforcement of this law rests entirely with the local authorities, and in many places the police officers have failed to do anything. The difficulty has been that they have not as yet been given candlesticks, which are just as necessary to measure light as is the speedometer to measure speed. Quite a few of the larger cities now, however, have equipped their police departments with candlesticks and Milwaukee is putting in a complete testing station.

Urges Democrats In Montana To Support G. O. P. To Beat N. P.'s

Sen. Myers Sees "Carnival of Recklessness" in Non-partisan Control

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—Declaring that the Nonpartisan league had taken over the Democratic party in Montana, Senator Myers, Democrat, of that state, in a formal statement here today, urged Montana Democrats to support the Republican congressional and state tickets with the exception of the nominee for attorney general.

"There is no reason," said Senator Myers, "why the Democratic party of Montana should be swallowed by a hybrid combination of radicals and revolutionists, bent on ruin, and there is no reason why a Democrat should swallow their non-descript ticket. I refuse to do so."

"This action may sign my political death warrant. I would a thousand times rather have private life than to continue in public life at the price of betraying my state into the hands of what I consider the worst elements of politics and turning it over to a carnival of recklessness and an orgy of radicalism such as has prevailed in North Dakota for several years."

Senator Myers explained that the Nonpartisan league had obtained the Democratic nomination in his state as entering its candidates in the recent state primary. The senator said that while his condemnation did not apply to the Democratic nominee for governor personally, he could not "stand his backers and associates."

LACK HOUSES IN WISCONSIN

Acute Shortage in State Industrial Centers, Says Report

There is a housing shortage in Wisconsin, except in a few cities where population has been at a standstill. There is an acute housing shortage in industrial centers where population has been increasing rapidly. This is true of all the cities on the lake shore and the Fox river valley, except Oshkosh, and also in Beloit, Janesville and Madison.

There has been exceptional building activity almost everywhere in the state during 1920. The largest amount of building, however, has been that of garages, theaters and schools, rather than of homes. It is doubtful whether, for the state as a whole, the new homes built in 1920 have kept pace with the normal increase of city population.

In many of the industrial centers housing corporations have been organized, usually under the auspices of the chambers of commerce or the employers' association. Housing corporations of this kind have been organized in Kenosha, Two Rivers, Stevens Point, Watertown, and in some other cities. A number of large industrial plants also have carried out extensive housing projects of their own. Among these are the Ajax Rubber Co. at Racine, the Kohler Co. at Kohler, the Kimberly-Clark Co. at Neenah, the Northern Furniture Co. at Sheboygan, the Samson Tractor Co. at Janesville, and the Fairbanks-Morse Co. at Beloit. Milwaukee has a housing commission and is organizing a co-operative housing company with municipal assistance.

A law giving authority to the railroad commission to regulate rents in apartment houses in Milwaukee has had some effect in keeping down increase in rents, but has not relieved the housing shortage, which has become very acute in Milwaukee. The railroad commission has recently announced that it will make a general survey of rents in Milwaukee because, the law, as heretofore administered, has operated in many cases to put out from their homes the tenants who were bold enough to complain about profiteering by their landlords.

Dr. Roberts To Be Released Wednesday

Dr. David Roberts of Waukesha, sentenced to one year in the Milwaukee county house of correction on charges growing out of the Lusk case, will be released Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, and will return to the practice of his profession as a veterinarian. During his imprisonment he has been an assistant in the farm affairs of the house of correction.

Some months ago there was talk of an application for a pardon for Miss Grace Lusk, Waukesha school teacher, who shot and killed Mrs. Roberts because of an affair with her husband. Nothing came of it and Gov. Philipp said on Monday there had been no new developments in the case, to his knowledge. It is said that Dr. Lusk, father of the woman, was about to apply for pardon for his daughter on the ground of her failing health. She is serving a sentence of 19 years in the state prison at Waukesha.

Postal Clerks' Nerves Shattered; General Delivery Letters Swamp Offices

"Are there many unclaimed letters here that you think are for students?" inquired the cub reporter at the general delivery window. "My gawsh, yes, bushels of them," returned the post office clerk. "We're swamped with them. I guess all the frosh in school must be getting their mail that way."

"Do you keep them all?" "I should say not—we couldn't handle them. No, we keep them seven days and then send them back."

"Are there many more than usual?" persisted the scribe. "Look at them stacked up in the boxes. We always have a lot though, just after the university opens, because so many people aren't sure of their addresses before they come down. But they'd better come after them if they intend to get them."

Thousands Honor Memory of Schiff

NEW YORK—New York bowed its head today in memory of Jacob H. Schiff financier and philanthropist, who died Saturday. Thousands sought admission to the simple funeral services this forenoon at the Temple Emanuel, the congregation of which Mr. Schiff had been a member for half a century. Instead of strict adherence to the Jewish ritual for the dead, a special order of service was arranged. Mr. Schiff left a request that no eulogy be delivered. Down on the crowded, grief-stricken East Side, in the district which Mr. Schiff had so often extended his generous philanthropy business was suspended. Even the peddlers' push carts were covered.

BANISH THE BLUE from BLUE MONDAY

As a labor saving machine, a home servant always ready to cut the work of the week's washing in half, the Big 3 Vacuum Washer stands out as something to be considered.

The Big 3 Washer is selling and giving satisfaction in many Madison homes because it is not an ordinary washer.

The Vacuum action agitator or dasher drives the suds through the clothes and hence cuts and forces the dirt out quickly.

This means:

- No wear to the clothes
- Less power to operate
- The washing done more easily and more quickly.

Call at either of our stores, and let us show you how the Big 3 Vacuum Washer will more than cut the work of the week's washing in half.

It banishes the blue from blue Monday.

BOX COURSE WILL COST $100 A WEEK

Forest Products Laboratory Raises Price to Manufacturers

Manufacturers who come to the forest products laboratory for the fourth monthly course in boxing and crating, Oct. 4 to 9, will pay a fee of $75; but members of the November class will have to pay a fee of $100 because of the increased cost of materials, and increased salaries of the experts giving the instruction, according to an announcement. Factory men have enrolled in the course from all parts of the country. One is coming from Portland, Ore., to the October course.

Two courses in boxing and crating were given for ordinance officers during the war. The course was resumed in July and will continue monthly. The object is to demonstrate for manufacturers and shippers the principles that underlie proper box and crate construction, and development of economical containers that will deliver the contents to their destination in a satisfactory condition at a minimum cost.

C. V. Maudlin, in charge of the box laboratory, C. A. Plaskett and J. G. Woodburn are the instructors. T. R. C. Wilson, formerly in charge, will resume his work with the timber-testing division.

DECLARE WAR ON ACCIDENTS

National Safety Council Launches Nationwide Program

(By the Associated Press)
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—To fill the demand from municipal authorities throughout the country for aid in combating America's most serious accident problem—that of the careless automobile driver and the "jay walking pedestrian"—the National Safety Council at its ninth annual congress here today made provision for the admission of city, state, county, and federal governmental officials of all sorts as full active members of the council.

To make it possible for the larger cities to enroll in the council the heads of all departments such as chief of police, fire chief, health commissioner, superintendent of schools, the commissioner of public safety, a nominal fee of $25 per year was established for municipal membership.

Provision was also made for the admission of individuals as active or associate members, at a nominal fee. The experiment of organizing a safe drivers' club is being tried out here.

3 FOREST EXPERTS LEAVE LAB STAFF

Brewster, Knauss and Watkins Accept Positions With Lumber Firm

Three members of the forest products laboratory staff will leave this week to accept positions with the J. W. Darling Lumber Co., Cincinnati, O.

Donald R. Brewster, who has been an instructor in the kiln-drying course at the laboratory, will be assistant to the general manager. A. C. Knauss, who has been in charge of work on build-up wood articles, such as baseball bats, and airplane propellers, and James R. Watkins, who has been giving instruction in the boxing and crating, will be in charge of the service department.

Mr. Brewster was formerly secretary of the Madison section of the American Society of Foresters. He submitted the plan for the advancement of forestry in Wisconsin through a state forestry council to consist of five members from each of the congressional districts, for the purpose of unofficially assuming a position of constructive leadership in the promotion of forestry for the public benefit.

Louis Seutter and C. W. Coye recently left the laboratory to accept positions in the Grand Rapids, Mich., furniture industry. Both were in the plywood and glue-wood division. Former members of the laboratory staff have become so numerous in Grand Rapids, that they have formed a forest products laboratory club.

County Maintaining 130 Miles of Road Like State System

Letters Painted on Telephone Poles Mark Nine Dane Trails

Judging from the number of inquiries as to the meaning of the large capital letter placed on the newly painted rectangles on telephone poles in various parts of the county, Madison people do not seem to be acquainted with the fact that Dane county is patrolling and otherwise maintaining 130 miles of county road is precisely the same way that the state cares for the numbered system, according to J. C. Bitterman, of the travel bureau of the Association of Commerce.

The following roads are marked by letters: A, Waunakee, Dane and Lodi; road from Sherman ave. road to Lodi; B, McFarland road from point 4 and north of McFarland to Stoughton; C, from Edgerton to Marshall; D, from Bellevue to Black Earth via Mt. Vernon and Mt. Horeb; E, from Waunakee to Arlington; F, from Mt. Horeb to Dahleville; G, from Verona to Mt. Vernon; H, from Madison to Cottage Grove; and I, from Mazomanie to Sauk City.

Other counties are following the same plan, but as yet the Madison bureau has not been able to secure their maps. This is a splendid piece of cooperation, says Mr. Bitterman, as it tends to tie together the state trunk lines radiating from Madison. There is a total of approximately 2,500 miles of county roads marked and maintained in Wisconsin.

Syndicalist Victory Seen By Italy In Metal Trade Agreement

American Commercial Attache Says Country Has Not Accepted Soviets

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—The agreement reached between organized labor and the operators in the Italian metal industry "is a victory for the syndicalists," said a message to the department of commerce today from Alfred P. Dennis, American commercial attache at Rome.

There is corresponding discouragement on the part of stockholders and high salaried leaders of industry," said Mr. Dennis' cablegram. "It is generally apprehended by capitalists that the principles of this agreement will later be extended so as to apply to textiles and other industries."

"There is no warrant for the conclusion that the country has accepted a soviet control and that confiscation is implied. Participation of labor in the industry amounts to giving workmen a voice in financial and technical administration with facilities for ascertaining what profits are made, and how these profits are applied."

Four States Slow Up In Population Gains; Illinois Still Third

Montana Passes New Hampshire; New Mexico Beats Vermont

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—Four states, the 1920 populations of which were announced today by the census bureau, showed gradual declines in their respective relative increases over preceding decades.

Illinois has a population of 5,485,098, an increase of 846,507, or 15.6 per cent over 1910. The state is expected to retain its rank as the third most populous state, although its 1920 population shows the lowest relative increase in the state's history.

Montana, with a population of 547,593, showed an increase of 171,540 or 45.6 per cent over 1910. This was the state's largest numerical increase but its percentage increase was the lowest. The state ranked 40th in 1920 but has passed New Hampshire in the 1920 rank.

New Mexico's 1920 population is 350,247, an increase of 22,946 or 10.1 per cent over 1910. The figures show the state to have made the lowest numerical increase since 1880, when the growth was 27,661, and the second lowest relative increase in its history. New Mexico ranked as 44th state in 1910, but passed Vermont in this census.

ST. PAUL GIRL NOW WANTS TO HELP OTHERS

Miss Sohon Restored by Tanlac
Would Pass the Good Word On

"Others helped me by telling what Tanlac did for them, and now I want to help somebody else by telling what it has done for me," said Miss Lillian Sohon, of St. Paul, Minn., recently.

"Something over a year ago I began to have trouble with my stomach, and it kept getting worse up to the time I got Tanlac. I never knew what it was to feel hungry and my digestion was so out of order that after every meal gas formed and kept me feeling miserable.

"At times I was taken with a swimming in the head and got so weak that I thought I was going to faint. I couldn't sleep at all; hardly, and often got up in the morning with a terrible headache, which kept getting worse through the day until I could hardly stand it.

"I saw so many statements, some of them from people whom I knew personally, praising it, and now I can't praise it too highly myself. My appetite is splendid and my digestion seems to be perfect, for I can eat just anything and everything and never have a bit of trouble from gas or any other symptom of indigestion.

"I haven't had one of those attacks of dizziness since I started taking Tanlac, and my headaches, too, are things of the past. My sleep at night is sound and refreshing, that tired feeling is all gone, and my work is no trouble to me at all, for I feel good all the time. My gratitude to Tanlac is so great that I am more than glad to pass the good word along for the sake of others."

Tanlac is sold in Madison by the Luckey Pharmacies, and in Mazmanie by Geo. A. Shields, in Mt. Horeb by C. C. Robertshaw, in Cambridge by Ole Bilstad, and by the leading druggists in every town.

JEWS CELEBRATE AUTUMN FEASTS

Succoth or Feast of Tabernacles is Observed
Here

Madison Jews this week are celebrating Succoth, or the Feast of the Tabernacles, which began last Sunday, the first and last days being considered most holy. Some of the customs of the feast are necessarily dropped now, as for instance, one of the most notable: the dwelling in temporary huts for a few days to remind the people of the Jewish wanderings in the wilderness and of the divine care used in saving them.

Fruits are brought into the synagogue, services held and thereafter they are sent to the poor and to hospitals. The days really correspond to the American Thanksgiving day, and children play an important part in the festival, giving harvest programs.

SOPHS INDULGE IN TAME HAZING PARTY

About 50 eager and anticipant sophomores were out after blood last night, but according to all reports none was spilled, the lake was undisturbed, and bubbler fountains flowed on. The youngsters evidently expected the attack for only a few strangers made their way home, ward via the darkest streets, after the main body had given up thoughts of organizing and meeting their antagonizers.

NEW FALL HAT FEATURES FLUTED BRIM

The fluted brim is the newest novelty which the milliners have introduced so far this fall. Here it is used with pleasing effect on a black velvet off-the-face style. The hat is untrimmed save for a little feather fancy on the under side of the fluted brim. The ornament is also black. Both the shape and the simplicity of this hat is suitable for the youthful face.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 13 years old and I am acquainted with a boy who is 26. I have known him for six years. He was in the last army. He is a nice young man. I have no mother and he hasn't, but I have one brother and a father at home. The boy wishes me to marry him in the future and my father doesn't care to have me marry him. I have a sister and brother-in-law who object to his going with me. She even tried to whip me to make me quit going with him. His brother tried to make him quit me, too.

There is all manner of talk about me, but the more they talk the more we think of each other.

Please advise my sister and her husband about butting into our business. Also advise me whether to marry this young man or not. I could not love any other young man. I never did and I never will try.

M. O. B.
You are of an age when it is necessary for the older members of your family to know about your "business" and to advise you. Your sister has your interest at heart and you should accept her views with more tolerance, realizing that she has had more experience which results in better judgment.

Little girls of your age are too young to have "sweethearts." Do not think of becoming engaged to the young man. It is narrow to make up your mind that you will never love anyone else. If you are normal you will enjoy the company of others and be willing to recognize the fact if you learn to care for some one else later.

Be a little girl for a year or two longer. When you are older you will have more discretion and better judgment. It is a grave mistake to give people a chance to talk. You are building a reputation now which will cling to you all your life. Make it a good one.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 15 years old. I have taken music lessons for one year and five months. I can play all the pieces in all my books I have gone through so far. I have known of other girls who after having gone through their first, second and third books have forgotten the pieces, but I have not. What is the cause of that?

Do you think I am doing well with my music? Do you think I will ever be a great musician? A friend of mine who goes to the same teacher said she brags about my lessons and tells her I am the best scholar she has. Do you think she means it? My teacher never tells me when I have a good lesson or how am getting along and feel like giving up. If she would only tell me what my friend claims she tells her, I could work and practice much harder on my music.

I practice from one to two hours and 15 minutes daily except Sunday. Is that enough? I want to be a music teacher. Do you think I will succeed? WORRIED.

It seems to me you have every reason to feel encouraged. It is a fine thing to memorize so easily. You must realize, however, that feeling and expression count even more than the ability to memorize. Besides you must have good technique which is the result of much faithful practice.

Perhaps you are your teacher's best pupil, but that is no reason to rest on your laurels. Be thankful that you are blessed with a talent and resolve to make the best of it. If you work hard you can certainly become a music teacher and you may even become a very fine musician.

For a school girl you probably practice as much as you have time, but later when you have not your studies to take up your time you will probably find three or four hours necessary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would be very much pleased if you could give me the name or address of some reliable firm from which I could get sewing to do at home. I would prefer children's or women's every-day clothes or any kind of plain sewing. THANK YOU.

Firms do not make a practice of sending out sewing. It is done in the factory or in alteration rooms. I doubt very much if you could get work such as you desire. The only thing for you to do is to advertise for work, put a sign on your house, or call at different homes and see if you can get sewing to take home.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"Pine!" said a cheery voice that Billy recognized at once, as the goat jumped over the gate. "That was a great jump. I guess I'll have to make a big jumper out of you."

Billy stopped, ashamed of himself. For a minute he had been wanting to run away from this kind friend of his, but all at once he made up his mind to stay right where he was and take a whipping if he had to have it, and, as all the dogs piled out of the gate after him and set up a yelping and capping around Bobby and Dandy, Billy stood among them, his head hanging down, feeling very cheap. Bobby, who had forgotten something and come back for it, was a little puzzled until he looked up to the house and saw his mother sitting on the front porch holding up her line of dragged, dirty clothes, while Tiny, the cow, was calmly eating up her nasturtium bed, unnoticed. Then Bobby understood. "You're a bad goat," he said to Billy, shaking his finger at him. "I have been puzzling what to name you, but now I know," and by some strange accident he landed on the very name that Billy's mother had given him long before. "I'm going," he said, "to call you Billy Whiskers."

Billy had to behave himself splendidly to make the Sanders family forget that morning's mischief, but at last Mrs. Sanders remembered that she had seen Jimmy Tarwings on Billy's back when he was running with the clothes fast to his neck, and so they blamed it on the cow. They were used to blaming mischief on that busy bird, so that a little more or less did not matter much to him.

And now Billy's education began. Every day, for an hour or so, Bobby taught tricks to the pats. The first time Billy saw this he scarcely knew his new friends, they were so different and so much in earnest. First of all, Bobby, who had been training his animals for a long time, placed a row of boxes in front of the barn.

"Dandy!" he cried, and the pony ran quickly to the big box in the center and stood upon it. "King! Queen!" Bobby cried, and the two dogs jumped upon the boxes, one each side of the pony. "Ponto! Paty!" and the next box on each side was filled. "Curley! Spot!"

Hurricane! Lightning!" and next four boxes, two on each side, were occupied.

This disposed of all the dogs except the six little collie puppies, and Bobby next called the names of these, one at a time. Of course, the puppies did not know what to do, but as soon as Bobby had called the names of one of them he sat that one up on its box so that it would soon learn to know where it belonged.

"Jimmy!" called Bobby, and down from the barn fluttered Jimmy Tarwings and sat on the pony's head. Then Bobby gave a peculiar low thrilling whistle, and with a whirl and a rush the pigeons came circling and fluttered down, each one landing on a head of one of the dogs. "Spunk! Saucebox!" Bobby called, and the two bantams jumped up, one on each side of his outstretched hands. Two of the pigeons settled down on each of Bobby's shoulders and one on top of his head. The two bantam roosters started to crow as loud as they could and that was the signal for the pony and all the dogs except the puppies to stand up on their hind feet, while the crow and the pigeons fluttered their wings. "Down!" said Bobby, and they all settled back upon their haunches. Bobby dropped his arms and the bantam roosters fluttered to the ground.

CHINESE FLOCK TO UNIVERSITY

Eleven of Company of 206 New Arrivals in America Here

Eleven Chinese students, part of the company of 206 who arrived in San Francisco last week, have registered for study in the University of Wisconsin.

This is the first big assignment of students to American schools rather than to Europe in line with Chinese decision to favor the United States in planning her educational system. The Chinese are not inclined to the French system which is that of placing approximately 3,000 students in a college devoted exclusively to Oriental scholars.

The arriving students will go to technical institutions, farming colleges of the middle west, schools of law and medicine, and to institutions specializing in engineering and applied arts.

About sixty of the party are funded by the Chinese government, the remainder are sent by their families. They come well provided. Purn H. C. Barnes of the Nankin said that more than $1,500,000 belonging to the students was placed in the ship's safe at the beginning of the voyage.

The students assigned to Wisconsin colleges are: Madison high school, Chang Sien Tuh.

University of Wisconsin, Madison: Chen Tsung, Chow Ching Shu, Kau Chia Wha, Kung Ling Hsuan, Chao Chin Lin, Shen Hsiung Shing, Alfred T. Sun, Henry K. Sun, Tang Tao Yuan, Chausson O. Tseng, Tan Yang Ding.

Beloit college, Beloit: Tang Ching Tsien.

Lawrence college, Appleton: Tu Ting Ssu, Yang Yin Pa.

ENROLLMENT IS NOT INCREASED

Registrar's Figures Show Roll No Larger Than Last Year

Falling way below the early prediction that 8,000 students would be registered in the university this fall, official enrollment figures given out by Registrar W. D. Hiestand show that this fall's registration will be almost identical with that of last year. About 7,000 regular students is the registrar's prediction.

Because of the size of the task of registering so many the registrar's office has not yet been able to prepare figures for a comparison with last year by colleges and classes. Registration at the close of the first week is practically the same as registration on the corresponding day last year, and late registrations are coming in at the same rate.

"Our total for the present semester will probably be about 7,000 students," said Mr. Hiestand. "When the university directory is published, this will show the distribution of the student body by colleges and by classes. I do not expect to show a very great difference from our attendance last year."

CHEST CLINICS
ARE ENDORSEDMedical Convention Here
Urges Examination of Badgers

When everyone is willing to undergo an annual physical examination and take account of health stock, cases of disease and resulting distress will diminish to a large extent. Dr. T. L. Harrington, of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, told the state conference of health officers at its opening session in the capitol this morning. Free chest examinations for Wisconsin citizens as conducted by this organization were described by the Milwaukee man, and medical men from various cities endorsed them as an educational measure and as a valuable undertaking in preventive medicine.

Since June, 1918, it was stated, 5,307 patients have been examined, and over 15 per cent disclosed positive or suspicious symptoms of tuberculosis. At La Crosse recently 580 patients were examined, and 100 of them 150 more were turned away. The sale of Christmas seals finances this work.

"The time is coming," declared Dr. Harrington, "when the skilled practitioner in place of the charlatan will find his place. The one way to fight tuberculosis is to discover the cases early and respond to recognized forms of treatment. Clinics aid the medical profession as well by helping physicians to develop technique."

Dr. G. Windesheim, health commissioner of Kenosha, strongly supported these claims, relating results of a recent clinic in his city when nearly 500 were examined. Without proper follow-up work, he said, much of the benefit will be lost. Dr. Bertha Thompson, health commissioner of Oshkosh, gave similar praise. Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, presiding, declared every municipality should have a health center and facilities for examinations for all unable to pay.

Noon trains brought in many conference attendants. The morning session opened with about 100 present. Mayor I. M. Kittleson, welcoming the visitors, took up the cudgels against the venereal disease menace, cited Madison's support of a clinic against those diseases, and urged stimulation of interest by all health officers to the end that every infected individual be found, and that known and measures taken to free them from such maladies.

If the truth were known," he said, "a great many ailments are tolerated without the victims knowing their true nature but which in reality are of the venereal type. Wisconsin is making a great campaign to curb this menace."

Advising health workers to take the press more into their confidence, L. W. Bridgman, of the educational division of the state board, discussed the value of publicity in health work. Public health topics constitute news, he said, and newspapers as a general rule welcome this material.

The example of the public health nurses in spreading their gospel of health through the newspapers of the state was commended as one to follow for all health workers to follow, if done within legitimate bounds.

Plan Program for Fire Prevention Day

Efforts will be made through the fire prevention day committee of the Association of Commercial and Industrial Firemen to impress upon the public the importance of guarding against fires. Publicity will be given the matter in the press, in the schools, in the factories and motion picture houses before and on Oct. 9th, national fire prevention day.

J. C. Ford, of the French Battery & Carbon company, will look after the industrial side of the program for fire prevention day. Chief Heyl will get in touch with the churches and university authorities. Chairman Arthur Schulz, R. J. Neckerman and I. U. Sears will discuss the part the schools may be able to play in the program with Superintendent W. J. Meek. T. C. McWilliams, of the Grand, will secure the necessary slides and publicity will be handled by the staff of the Association of Commerce.

He said he could not resist the temptation to visit his children at Clarksburg. Miller's punishment will be light, Warden Terrell said, because of his voluntary surrender.

MARKETS

WHEAT MARKET STOCK MARKET
WEAKER TODAY TAKES RALLY

General Selling Causes Decline; Corn Follows

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO—Much weakness developed in the wheat market today accompanied by general selling. The declining tendency of commodity values was a decided barometer. Financial difficulties in Boston operated also to check buyers. Opening prices, which ranged from 4 1/2c off to 2c advance, with December 2.30 to 2.23 and March 2.13 1/2 to 2.20, were followed by material setbacks all around. On the decline there was persistent commission house buying. Rallies followed. The close was unsettled 1/4c to 1c net lower with December 2.23 to 2.23 1/2 and March 2.17.

Corn gave way with wheat. Frost predictions had only a transient opposite influence, the trade being inclined to believe that the bulk of the crop was out of danger. After opening 4 1/2c off to 4c advance including December at 56 to 97c the market underwent a sag to well below yesterday's finish.

December was relatively firm on account of closing spreads. The market finished nervous, unchanged to 1c net lower, with December 95 1/2.

Oats were easier owing to the weakness of other cereals starting unchanged to 1/2c down, and continuing to descend.

Provisions fell with grain and hogs.

Mueller and Muzzy Battle At Monona Park Auditorium Tonight

FANS FAVOR BUFFALO BOXER OVER CREAM CITY BATTLER; PREDICT LARGE ATTENDANCE

Interest of Many Centered on Outcome of Scrap for Bantam Honors Between MacFarlane and Herzog; Betting Reported Light

The time—8:30 p. m.
The referee—Joe Steinauer.

BY PAUL A. HOLMES.
Everything was all set this morning for the staging of the Monona Athletic club's boxing show at the Monona park auditorium tonight at 8:30.

All of the boxers had arrived in town before noon. The last arrivals were Jimmy Muzzy, windup fighter, and Joe Birch, lightweight, who will take on Check in the curtain raiser. Mueller arrived three days ago, and Herzog, MacFarlane, and Check came in last night.

The fighters were going light on meals this morning in anticipation of the weighing-in process, which was scheduled to take place at Morgan's at 3 p. m. Students were expected to watch these proceedings, as Promoter Jack Boyd issued them a special invitation to be present.

A record turnout is the forecast for the Monona Athletic club's fifth venture in fistie circles. Labor day the largest crowd which has yet turned out for a fight watched the program which included two knockouts, and early indications point to the fact that the record of 1,400 made at that time will be eclipsed.

Boyd reports the greatest advance sale his shows have ever enjoyed, the majority of the pastebards being taken in large blocks by residents.

Those who watched Mueller work out in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon were convinced that Jimmy Muzzy, the protégé of the Mitchell brothers, would be treated to 10 rounds of rough sledding. The "K. O." battler looked like a world-beater in his practice work, and Muzzy did not make an especially favorable impression on many of the fans.

As a result of this, betting odds swung to 7 and 5 on the Buffalo pasterer, the first time in local ring history that the fans have backed a stranger against a man who has shown here previously. Muzzy, hearing of the state of affairs, was furious.

"I put up a mighty good battle against Cowley," he stated, "and didn't finish him off because he was game enough to step in as a substitute for Stanley McBride. I am sorry the fans didn't like my work, but I intend to show them tonight why Richie and Pinkie Mitchell think I am a cover. I will knock out this Mueller if such a thing is possible."

The semi-windup bout is an elimination contest in the race for the state bantamweight title, and both Herzog and MacFarlane are determined to win. Johnny New has already challenged the winner, and both fighters have signified their willingness to fight New providing they are victorious. The slight amount of bad blood between Herzog and MacFarlane should make this match especially interesting.

Joe Birch will take on Check in the preliminary. Joe is a Milwaukee fighter of long standing, and with years of ring experience, it is predicted that he will dispose of Check before the regulation 10 rounds. Joe Steinauer, varsity swimming instructor, will, as usual, referee all of the fatches.

The ninth, if necessary, will go to Brooklyn.

This would make the big series schedule as follows:
Oct. 5—American league city.
Oct. 6—American league city.
Oct. 7—American league city.
Oct. 8—Traveling.
Oct. 9—Brooklyn.
Oct. 10—Brooklyn.
Oct. 11—Brooklyn.
Oct. 12—Brooklyn.
Oct. 13—Traveling.
Oct. 14—American league city.
Oct. 15—Traveling.
Oct. 16—Brooklyn.

Five victories will be necessary to decide the championship. It was also decided that if the American league race results in a tie between Chicago and Cleveland a three-game series will be necessary to decide the winner. In that event the first game will be played in Cleveland, the second in Chicago and the third on neutral ground.

May Let Sewell Play.
A precedent may be established this year in baseball in the event that Cleveland wins the American league pennant and engages the National league winner. This may be the playing of a ball player whose name had not been promulgated before the expired time—Aug. 30. The player in question is Shortstop Sewell, who joined the Indians recently and is playing the position left vacant because of the death of Ray Chapman.

Mr. Heydler, in discussing the status of Sewell, said that the rule never had been broken, and he was sure there would be no attempt to break it now. However, he said, Sewell would be permitted to play if consent was obtained from the National league club.

Mr. Heydler declared he would raise no objection himself.

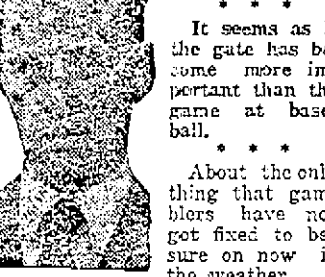

Kewpie Schroeder is Made Gopher Captain

MINNEAPOLIS—Alfred (Kewpie) Schroeder, end on the 1917 University of Minnesota football team, was elected captain of the 1920 team to succeed Tryg Johnson, who was recently requested by the university not to complete his registration. The election of Schroeder was completed at a secret meeting on Saturday and announced on Monday. Shortly after the announcement was made the board of eligibility announced that Schroeder would be ineligible.

In 1918 Schroeder played with the Chicago Municipal Pier team and last year returned to his home at Miller, S. D. Later he went to the University of South Dakota, where he had previously played two years. The action of the eligibility board leaves the team without a captain. Another election will be held and it is predicted that Neil Armetson, candidate for quarterback, will be the third captain elected for the 1920 team.

ROUNDY'S RAZZBERRIES

Did you see where Bob Quick, the university ticket manager, has been appointed coach of the Freshmen at football? I suppose Frank Nickerson, his assistant, will go to Yale to coach next year.

It seems as if the gate has become more important than the game at baseball.

About the only thing that gamblers have not got fixed to bet sure on now is the weather.

Say, that one armed pool player at Abaly's new billiard parlor last night sure was good. He ran 50 points without a miss and it will be a treat to the fans to see this Burns comeback this winter.

Jim Barry was there and he enjoyed the exhibition for fair. When Burns started to take up a collection for his work, Jim made a big run for the doors.

Did you see where two Minnesota football players got fired from school for knocking down on tickets at the state fair. Next will be, I suppose, a crooked tennis match.

I suppose after reading of the recent baseball scandal, Dr. Bump and the chiro-practitioner, had a good hearty laugh.

Say did you see Graham Blackburn play billiards at Abaly's new place? The only time he will miss is when some one yells out, "Will you have a malted milk, Deak?"

Babe Ruth is billed to play at the Beaver Dam fair, they say. Boy, get the tape line.

What is the matter with having Charlie Chaplin throw custard pies at Ruth with a bat in his hand in the movies?

PINK MITCHELL PUTS OUT NOYE

MILWAUKEE—Pinkie Mitchell of Milwaukee knocked out Johnny Noye of St. Paul in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round bout here Monday night. From the very start, there was no doubt as to the final winner, the Milwaukee youth winning two of the previous three rounds with ease.

Pinkie had tried to cross his right to Noye's jaw repeatedly throughout the four rounds of milling, but the St. Paul mauler always managed to evade the sleep producer. In the closing minutes of the fourth session, however, he forgot to duck, and the next second lay sprawled on the canvas.

It was a great fight while it lasted, each round being replete with fast action. The smallness of stature of Noye, compared to the height and ranginess of Pinkie was a big

LAUNCH LOCAL CURLING CLUB

Officers and Directors Elected at Meeting Last Night; 175 Madison Men Join Club

Madison's Curling club is a "go." Officers and directors were elected last night at the offices of the Association of Commerce and this winter sport which received its first impetus last year at a number of meetings at the A. of C. offices is to become a reality this year.

Curling is now to most Madisonians but it is one of the most fascinating winter games, played on the ice, indoors. One hundred and seventy-five Madison men have already signed as members of the club, which is limited to 200 members the first year. A curling house costing approximately $10,000 will be erected before snow flies.

Officers elected last night are: President, L. J. Tucker; vice president, W. G. McKay; secretary, C. P. Yaeger; treasurer, H. C. Jamieson; directors for three years, L. J. Tucker, W. G. McKay and H. C. Jamieson; directors for two years, A. B. Cook, C. D. Secheverell and C. P. Yaeger; directors for one year, E. J. Reynolds, L. W. Shakesky and C. G. Smith.

Indians Erect New Stands for Series

CLEVELAND, O.—Erection of temporary overflow grandstands to seat 6,500 people will start at League park on Tuesday in anticipation of the local team's winning the American league pennant, James C. Dunn, president of the Cleveland club, announced Monday night.

"It is a gamble with me," Mr. Dunn explained, "but inasmuch as the stands cannot be completed in less than seven days, I could not afford to wait."

The new stands will cost approximately $15,000, and will increase capacity of the park to about 27,000.

Mr. Dunn left Monday night for Chicago. While there he will request the members of the National Baseball commission to postpone the opening game of the world's series until Oct. 7 to allow time for completing the work.

Vardon and Ray Win From Charles Evans

BETHLEHEM, Pa. Sept. 27.—(Special)—On the links of the Northampton Country club Sunday, Vardon and Ray, English golfers, Charles Evans, American champion, and E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, were participants in the best match ever staged here. The Englishman won, 3 up. The match was decided in the last few holes, it being even up after eighteen holes in the morning and the first eleven holes this afternoon. Evans was slightly off, but even at that finished in three less than par in the morning and two less in the afternoon. Par is 74. Vardon had 59 and 72, Ray had 73 and 68.

League To Meet—A meeting of the county organization of the Non-partisan league is to be held in the supervisors' room of the courthouse tomorrow afternoon at 2.

factor, if not the deciding factor, in the bout. Pinkie used his long left to good advantage repeatedly bumping and snapping back Noye's head with well timed left jabs. The sleep producer caught Noye flush on the mouth.

BROOKLYN WINS N. L. FLAG; SOX AND INDIANS BOTH WIN; BABE HITS TWO MORE HOMERS

Giants Lose Game to Braves and Drop Out of 1920 Dash for Pennant; Yanks Trim Macks and Keep in Race; Cubs Badly Routed

BROOKLYN won the championship of the National League yesterday, although idle, as a result of New York being defeated by Boston in the second game of their double-header.

New York's last chance to even tie Brooklyn slipped away with the loss of the second game. Each now has four games to play, and if the Giants win all of theirs and the Superbas lose their four the final standing would be:

Brooklyn	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	90	64	.584
	89	65	.577

All three leaders in the American race won today. Cleveland, which has a half game lead over Chicago, has six games to play, and if the Indians win half of them the White Sox must win their three remaining games with St. Louis to get first place.

With Little Dick Kerr pitching masterly ball, the Chicago White Sox continued their victorious march in the American league pennant race, defeating Detroit, 2 to 0, on Monday, in the final game of the season. The victory was Chicago's tenth in the last eleven games.

Kerr pitched a remarkable game, not allowing a man to reach third base and was never in danger. Dauss pitched splendid ball, allowing only one hit up to the sixth inning. After hitting Weaver in the sixth, however, Eddie Collins and Joe Jackson knocked out long long singles, which, coupled with a poor return by Ty Cobb, gave Chicago's only runs.

Cleveland maintained its half-game lead in the American League pennant race, defeating St. Louis, 8 to 4. Mails hurled a steady game, allowing bunched hits only in two innings. It was his sixth straight victory. Cleveland hit opportunistically and was materially aided by the wildness of the local pitchers. Jamieson cinched the game in the eighth inning when he drove a home run into the right field stands with O'Neill and Mails on bases.

Babe Ruth opened the first game of the final series of the season between the Athletics and the New York Yankees with his fifty-second home run of the season. In the sixth he registered his fifty-third, and the two circuit clubs beat the Athletics 3 to 0.

Babe's drives were responsible for all the visitors' runs. Wallie Pipp having been on first when he sent his first circuit clout over the right field wall. Babe reported at the home plate in the first inning with his left forearm swathed in a bandage due to his sliding injury ten days ago. He lost no time about connecting, however, and soaked Rommel's first pitched ball on a line toward the Twentieth street bungalows.

It just cleared the wall, going like a rifle ball, and if there had been a street fete out there there would have been a casualty list of dead and wounded to report.

The Giants were put out of the National League pennant race when Boston won the second game of a double header, 3 to 2. The Giants won the first contest, 2 to 1. Brock's home run into the left field bleachers in the ninth inning gave Boston its victory after New York had tied the score in the eighth on Frisch's homer. Both Townsend and Pierotti pitched good ball for the Braves.

St. Louis concluded its season's work here by trimming Chicago in decisive fashion on Monday, 16 to 1. The victors hammered three pitchers for twenty-five hits, totalling thirty-five bases. Chicago fielded poorly and could do nothing with Schupp despite seven bases on balls off the latter.

Boston made safe its position at the top of the second division by taking both games from Washington, 2 to 1 and 2 to 0. Harper struck out thirteen of his former teammates in the second game. The Red Sox will close their season tomorrow with two games with Washington.

THE UNDERLYING ISSUE

A GREAT issue can not be permanently obscured. Political parties and politicians, changing their ground to conform to expediency, may be likened to the shifting sands that bury, but do not destroy, the solid rocks beneath.

In the midst of the present campaign it is curious to consider the changes wrought on the surface of American politics from the time of the rise of Wilson's star in 1912 to its approaching eclipse in 1920.

Some of the main actors in the 1920 caste were on the stage in 1912 but most of them were playing different roles. Warren G. Harding made his debut in national politics in 1912 when he made the nominating speech for Taft at the Republican convention. Roosevelt had just denounced as "robbers" Lodge, Penrose, Root and the other Old Guard leaders who are still dominant in the party and the Roosevelt delegates bolted the convention, lead by Henry Allen of Kansas, then a battler at Armageddon, now the darling of the reactionaries because of his creation of an industrial court while governor of Kansas. Harding made a nominating speech punctuated with boos and cat-calls in which he flayed Roosevelt and his followers and paid tribute to Taft as "the greatest progressive of the age."

Cox in 1912 was making his first successful campaign for the governorship of Ohio. Bryan had nominated Wilson and played his part as the Warwick of the campaign.

The issues dealt with in 1912 were as different from the issues of 1920 as day from night. Wilson and Roosevelt vied with each other in denouncing the Money Power, the trusts, the tariff barons and all the beneficiaries of special privilege who could be catalogued under the head of "big business." Wilson went further than Roosevelt in denouncing these sinister forces. He declared that "the trusts are our masters now" and that "the Government of the United States is a foster-child of the special interests. It is not allowed to have a will of its own."

Speaking at Wilmington, Delaware in October, 1912, Candidate Wilson proclaimed his progressivism in words which fall strangely on the ears in 1920:

"I tell you ladies and gentlemen I take off my cap to Bob La Follette. He has never taken his eye for a single moment from the goal he set out to reach. He has walked a straight line to it in spite of every temptation to turn aside. Taunted, laughed at, called back, going steadily on and not allowing himself to be deflected for a single moment, for fear he also should hear and lose all his power to serve the great interests to which he had devoted himself. I love these lonely figures climbing this ugly mountain of privilege. But they are not so lonely now. I am sorry for my own part that I did not come in when they were fewer. There was no credit to come in when I came in. The whole nation had awakened."

An awakened nation in the November elections put Woodrow Wilson in the White House. Wisconsin, the home of progressivism, cast her electoral vote for the Democratic candidate.

The people waited for the struggle to dethrone the "masters" of the "government of the United States." They are still waiting.

In 1915 Frank P. Walsh's Commission on Industrial Relations, appointed by Congress to "discover the underlying causes of dissatisfaction in the industrial situation and report its conclusions thereon," brought in its report.

This report put in definite, concrete terms the general charges which Candidate Wilson had made on the stump. It pointed the way to industrial freedom for an America which Mr. Wilson had said was the "foster-child of the special interests."

Write to the Document Room of the United States Congress today for a copy of this report—one of the monumental documents of our contemporary history—and you will be told it is out of print. Money can not buy a copy of this damning indictment of Big Business, which sends a flood of light into the dark corners of industry where the discontent attributed to the "foreign agitator" are being bred.

The American citizen who takes his citizenship seriously will obtain a copy of this volume at a public library. He may find it tucked away out of reach of the general public but it is worth hunting for. Among other interesting facts, it reveals that in 1915 between one-fourth and one-third of the male workers over 18 years of age "earn less than $10 a week; from two-thirds to three-fourths earn less than $15, and only one-tenth earn more than $20 per week." It shows that "from two-thirds to three-fourths of the women workers in factories, stores and laundries, and industrial occupation in general, worked for wages less than $8 per week. Approximately one-fifth earn less than $4 and nearly one-half earn less than $6 per week."

It is in this same report that the conservative and scientific estimates of Professor King, of the University of Wisconsin, concerning the concentration of wealth in the United States, were summarized as follows:

"The rich, 2 per cent of the people, own 60 per cent of the wealth."

"The middle class, 33 per cent of the people, own 35 per cent of the wealth."

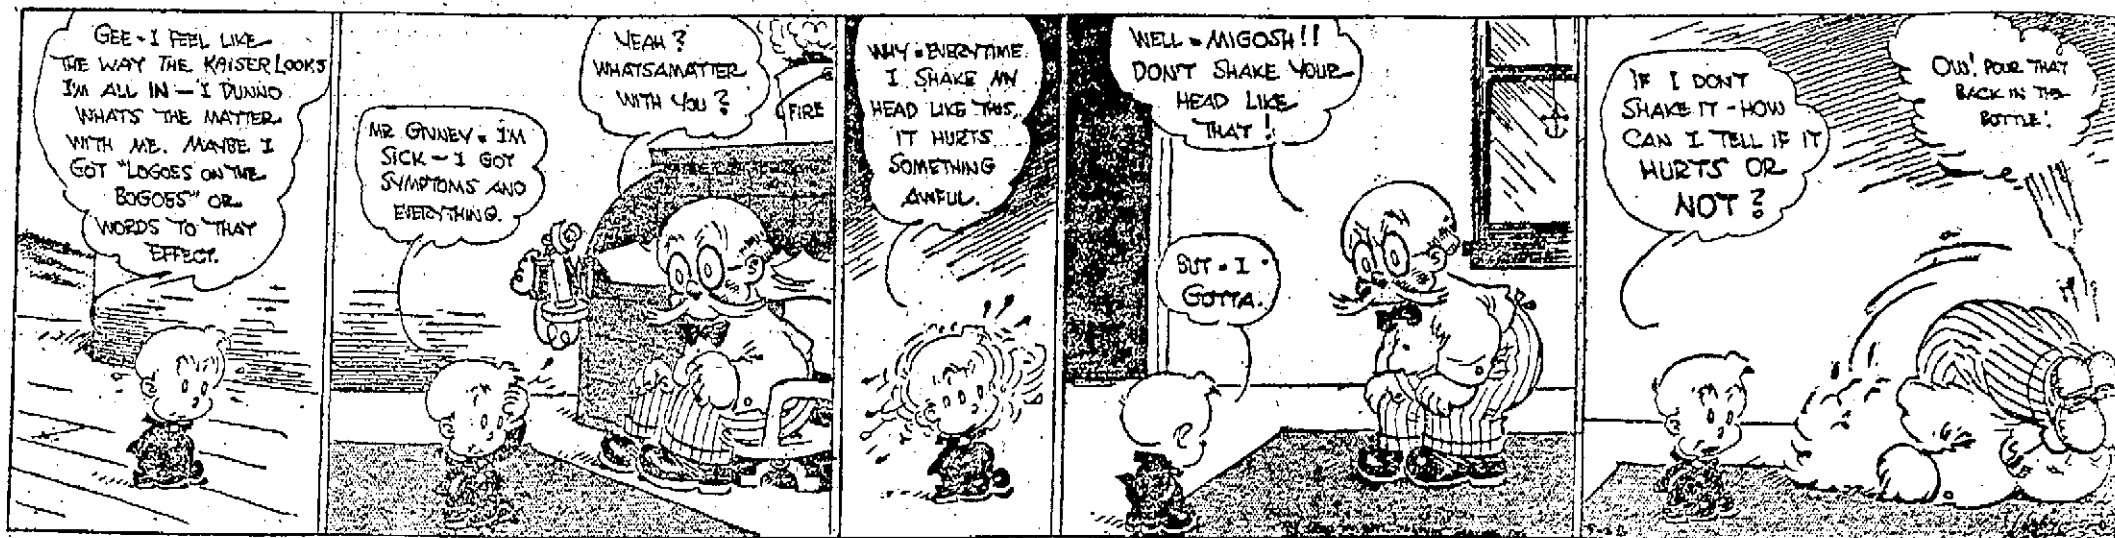

"The poor, 65 per cent of the people, own 5 per cent of the wealth."

The report drew this striking contrast: "Massed in millions at the other end of the scale are fortunes of a size never before dreamed of, whose very owners do not know the extent, nor, without the aid of an intelligent clerk, even the sources of their incomes."

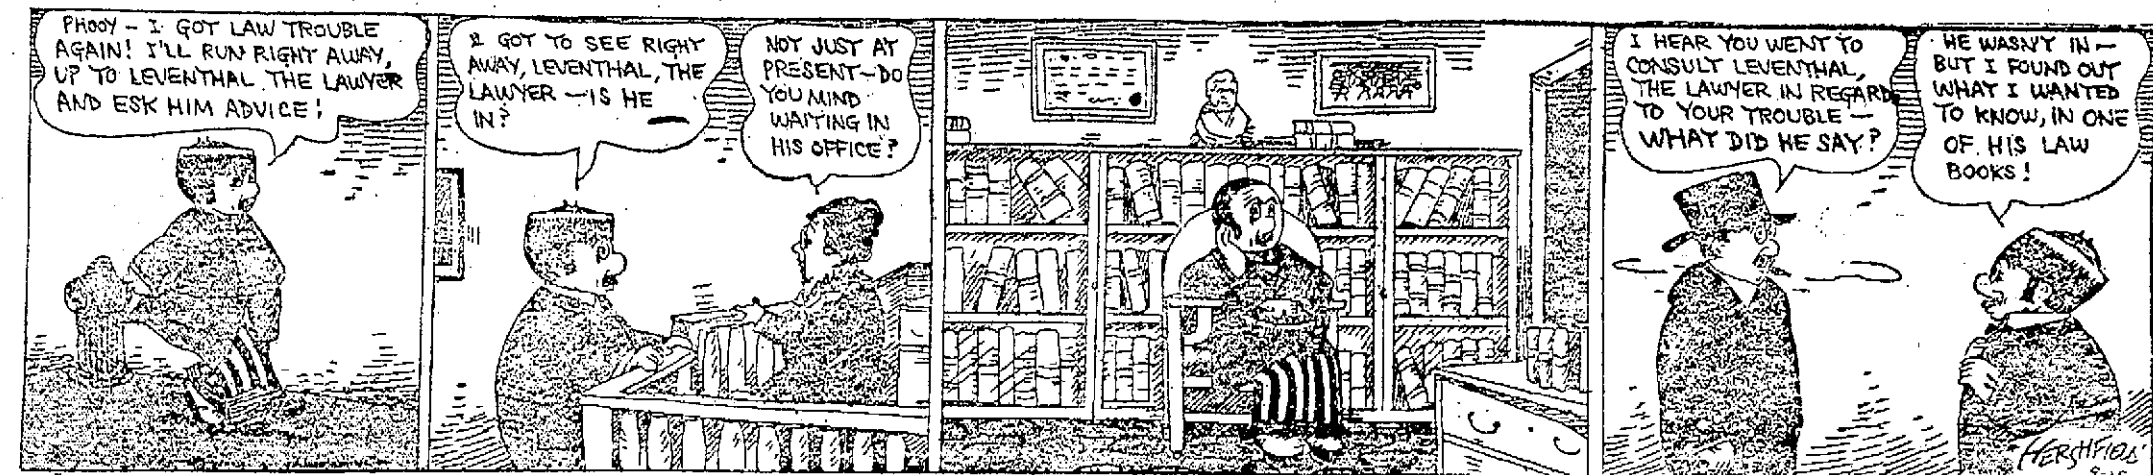

Since this report was made, in August, 1915, the United States has passed through a five year period, during which governmental activities have been devoted mainly to the problems of war. The findings of the Industrial Commission in 1915, true then as true now. Rents, clothing, food, freight rates have gone skyrocketing. The cost of living has doubled. Meanwhile the official figures of the Department of Labor conclusively prove that wages have failed to keep pace with the increased cost of the necessities of life, all controlled by the great monopolies.

AT THE THEATERS

At the Grand—Anita Stewart is playing capacity houses at the Grand where she is appearing in "The Yellow Typhoon" from the novel by Harold MacGrath. She plays the dual role of twin sisters, Bertha and Elida Nordstrom, the former a striking adventuress of the blonde type, and the latter a brunette with characteristics quite opposite. As Bertha, whose golden hair and artful ways, leave men broken as the reeds in the path of a storm, giving her the name of "The Yellow Typhoon," Miss Stewart portrays in a convincing manner an unusual character part. The picture will close its engagement at the Grand tomorrow.

At the Fuller—Stirring action, good acting and pleasing humor are the principal ingredients of "Uncharted Channels," the Jesse D. Hampton production, starring H. B. Warner, which opened at the Fuller theater yesterday for a run of three days. The picture, a Robertson-Cole release, shows Mr. Warner in a delightfully new characterization which serves to emphasize his capable actor's versatility. He is given satisfactory support by a cast which includes Kathryn Adams, a screen actress of long experience, Sam de Grasse, the well known "heavy" Evelyn Selbie and a number of lesser lights of the screen world.

At the Strand—"The Soul of Youth," which is showing at the Strand theater for the last time today is a drama of the most interesting type. The story is centered around a boy who grows up in a foundling home, and shows his unhappy life in that institution, where he gains the reputation of being the worst boy in the place, and his subsequent experiences after he departs from the loveless home to make his way in the city streets. In addition there will be shown the University of Wisconsin pageant and a comedy cartoon. Louise Glaum in "Love Madness" will open a three day engagement at the Strand theater Wednesday. There will also be shown a picture of the K. C. pilgrimage to Rome, in which Pope Benedict XV poses for pictures for the first time.

At the Orpheum—The mysterious workings of Hope Eden, who tells your name and what you want to know, attracts most of the attention at the Orpheum for the first bill. The act is surrounded with all the mystery, imagination and its clever execution leaves its audience in amazement as to how its done. Larry Comer is a smiling singer of new songs and ditties who won much favor because of his accommodating encores. The Maryland singers are back again with melodies of the south and illustrating the oldtime dances. Their banjo accompaniment was very good and we should have had more playing during the act.

and you will see the underlying issue in this country more clearly than it is being defined on any stump or platform today. Lincoln said the oldest issue in history could be summed up in the sentence: "You work, and I eat; you toil, and I will enjoy the fruits of it." The "oldest issue in history" was not disposed of with the Civil War. The old issue, in a new form, is raised today by the small group of monopolists who control the natural resources, the finances and the basic industries of this country, enjoying the fruits of the labor of the farmer and the wage worker, and extorting unjust profits from the consumer.

A few men in America—"taunted, laughed at, called back"—still insist that this issue must be met. They realize it can not be settled, and settled right for this generation, so long as campaigns are fought on false and minor issues. Four more years of reaction may bring the people to the same conclusion.

Voice of the People

THE LEAGUE

To the Editor of The Capital Times: The writer believes it is not in the least sacrilegious to apply the words spoken by the great Teacher, to the League: "It comes not to destroy the law or the prophets; it comes to fulfill."

The League program is clearly and wholly constructive. Its struggle to establish its program is quite similar in many respects to the one of a century ago in America, to wrest education from private ownership, and to establish a public school system for all—rich and poor alike—on a basis of equality of opportunity.

The enemies of the League are largely found among those whom we have been very wrongfully taught to call our leading citizens—namely, lawyers, bankers, and men of wealth. It was these classes who fought most bitterly the new idea of a public school system. They said "It is unjust to tax us. It is confiscation to take our wealth to build school houses, and to provide opportunities for an education for the poor man's child."

Some one hundred years ago a referendum was taken by the voters of the great commonwealth of Virginia—shall we as a great state organize and provide collectively the opportunities for an equality in educational pursuits? Jefferson, then the leading statesman of that state, and a true democrat, championed the cause of public ownership of the school system, and vigorously opposed the rich, the privileged class, who were the defenders of the old system.

At that time the words RED, BOLSHEVIK, SOCIALIST AND SOVIET WERE UNKNOWN, and therefore, could not be used as words of hate, contempt, and dispute. In attempts to maintain and bolster up an unethical, outgrown system, its defenders branded Jefferson as an Atheist, hoping in that way to discredit him in the eyes of the people. The hate, discord, vituperation and bitterness over the public schools lasted from forty to sixty years. It was quite like the fight now on over the conservation of natural wealth, and the public ownership of trade instrumentalities.

It was at that time the new idea of a collectively owned and administered educational system for a common good, against the old idea of education for a small privileged class, perched on the backs of the many.

Now it is the old system of private ownership, and exploitation made possible because of ownership of coal fields, oil wells, iron mines, water powers, transportation, refrigeration, and warehouse facilities that forces the HCOL higher and still higher.

The old system steadily increased tenancy both in town and country. Senator Capner is reported as saying "our new census will show more than one half the families in America owning neither the roof that shelters them, nor a foot of land to stand on." It is rapidly bringing just such conditions in America, as have always preceded revolutions and the downfall of entire systems of civilization in the past.

Those who desire to discuss in the open, this system and its results are called vile names, branded as disturbers of the peace, are ostracized, mobbed, and crucified.

It is certain no group of agitators ever yet plunged the world into such a sea of blood, war, loss, and despair, as was done by the Christian diplomats of Europe, who let loose the dogs of war in 1914. A war of which President Wilson in 1919 said "Does not every child know that this war was a commercial war?" (the result of the system.)

The League program was discussed as a party platform. It was later enacted into six or seven important laws by the legislature of North Dakota. They, the laws, were later voted upon directly by the intelligent home-owning people of that state, through a referendum. These laws were passed upon favorably by a State Supreme Court. A little later, by Federal Judge Charles Amidon, and lastly in June the United States Supreme Court gave a unanimous decision favorable to the league program.

To recapitulate—a program of constructive social betterment was put through a legislature, largely made up of farmers. The laws were then voted upon in a referendum and all of them, sustained by good majorities. Later they were upheld by the State Supreme Court,

On The Side

MARCEL'S NOVELETTE

They were one of the proudest and oldest families in the state; but fortune had not favored this generation. The estate was mortgaged and they were in debt. The only thing which could save them was to win that race. That beautiful mare Lady Macbeth was entered and would carry the family's future happiness as extra weight.

"They're off" at the quarter, Lady Macbeth is third and running easy. At the half, Lady Macbeth is second and still running easy. In the stretch, Lady Macbeth is in the lead!

Does Lady Macbeth win? No, she comes in fifth, and the family are still proud and poor.—Marcel Steinbrugg.

We are a resourceful people, as the gentleman said when he attacked some revolving brushes to his Ford and used it as a carpet sweeper.

PERSONAL PREJUDICES

I don't see how some of the magazine heroes fall in love with the heroines if the latter look anything like the illustrations, or vice versa. I am a brave man, but I never depend upon a bait when I go to a dancing party.

I don't believe I will ever tire of the wonders of amusement parks. I intend never to visit them.

I like to ride on the top of a bus for it is about the only chance I have to look down on people in a superior manner.

I don't seek a man's society because he is rich. I have tried it often but it hasn't done any good for it is about the only chance I like to have them say something, anyhow.

I have an ambition to become very rich and own two Palm Beach suits, so that I will not have to stay in the house three days out of a week.

I don't care much for the society of a man who spends his entire time telling me how to be efficient.

To avoid flu this winter take plenty of rest. This is the advice of an eminent physician. In other words, lie down and rest for two hours after breakfast, three hours after lunch and two hours after dinner. If this does not relieve you, lie down an hour before each meal.

MORAL: DON'T COOK

Lightning struck the house of George Dibble last week Tuesday. It came down the chimney, knocked the stovepipe down, played around the kitchen and went out again without doing much damage. If anyone had been working at the stove they would have been struck Westfield (N. Y.) Republican.

We often pause and wonder what would happen if the ultimate consumers should ever get together and go on strike.
